Temperatures sink while the party turns up every holiday season. While we don't typically play bartender on the daily, 'tis the season to test out some new recipes. That's why we're gifting you an exclusive guide to our favorite spiked holiday beverages that will impress every party guest. Trust us: these cocktails are anything but "pour" decisions—no matter the occasion. So, read on, prep that Insta filter for your photogenic party favors and let's start (responsibly) shaking it up this season!

FOODIE

Trust us: these cocktails are anything but "pour" decisions—no matter the occasion.

APPLE OF MY EYE

» Can't make it to the apple orchards for some fresh fall apples (or more importantly, apple pie and cider)? This cocktail serves up fall in a cup, and is the next best thing. It's sweet, spicy and packs a punch.

WHITE CHRISTMAS

We may never see a white Christmas in Southern California, so we are making our own. This hand-crafted wintery eggnog punch steps up the Christmas-time cocktail game with a nutty, cream flavor that speaks for itself.

“Tis the season to test out some new recipes.

Spiked Eggnog Punch

Ingredients:

- 1 c. Sailor Jerry Rum
- 5 Large Eggs, Separated
- ½ c. Granulated Sugar
- 2 c. Heavy Cream
- 3 tsp. Almond Extract
- 3 tsp. Vanilla Extract
- ½ tsp. Nutmeg
- ½ tsp. Allspice

(Makes 10 servings)

Instructions:

- Separate egg whites and yolks
- In a large bowl, whip sugar and yolks together
- Add in cream, almond extract, vanilla extract and allspice
- In a separate bowl, whip the egg whites until they form peaks
- Gently fold egg whites into the mix
- Pour in Sailor Jerry Rum and mix in
- Refrigerate for one hour
- Garnish with nutmeg and serve with a ladle

SWEET TOOTH

» Cozying up by the fire with a piping cup of hot cocoa is one of our favorite Christmas memories. So, we've updated it with some adult fun thrown in. This new winter classic cocktail is both salty and sweet, and totally delicious.

“ [It's] both salty and sweet, and totally delicious. ”
